INDIAN COUNCIL OF HISTORICAL RESEARCH

ANNUAL REPORT 1975-76

This is the Fourth Annual Report of the Indian Council of Historical Research covering the financial year 1975-76.

The Council made efforts towards the fulfilment of those projects that were accorded a relatively high priority. During the year under report these projects were carried on, though in certain areas the progress achieved was not to the level expected. In an organization of this kind the activity is dependent upon the grants-in-aid of the Government and the extent of involvement of scholars. During the year about 300 scholars were associated with various projects of the Council, in addition to 900 engaged in the Translation Project. There has been an increase in the grants-in-aid to the Council as may be seen from the table below:

Year	Grants-in-aid (including the amount sanctioned for special projects)
	Rs.
1972-73	16,71,000/-
1973-74	14,36,540/-
1974-75	21,22,264/-
1975-76	32,26,500/-

During 1973-74 the grants-in-aid decreased by Rs. 2,34,460/-, while in the succeeding years it increased by Rs. 6,85,724/-. Though in absolute terms this increase was apparently substantial, in relative term it proved to be marginal owing to increase in project cost and decrease in value of money. The position improved in the subsequent year; the non-plan and plan grants at Rs. 3,59,000/- and Rs. 8,72,000/- respectively in 1974-75 rose to Rs. 4,79,000/- and Rs. 18,49,500/- in 1975-76.

The progress registered by the Council in its Core Programmes and the details of progress of work done under Special Projects are shown elsewhere in the Report. It may be pointed out here that except those scholars who have been awarded research fellowships by the Council, most others were employed on full-time teaching or research assignments in institutions and were able to devote only a part of their time to the project work of the Council. This has slowed down progress in some cases. Nevertheless, the progress achieved was satisfactory on the whole.

I. PROMOTIONAL ACTIVITIES

The grants-in-aid of the Council cover research projects, research fellowships, assistance towards travel/contingent/maintenance expenditure, subsidy for publishing research works/source materials/journals and aid to professional organizations of historians. The details regarding the grants sanctioned under these categories during the years 1972-75 have been furnished respectively in the Annual Reports of those years. During the year under report, the Council accorded sanction to 22 Research Projects, 14 Fellowships and 12 Study/Travel/Contingent grants; in addition, 4 Research Projects and 4 Fellowships were extended; additional contingent grant was sanctioned to two scholars. Seventeen scholars/institutions were sanctioned subsidy for publishing their theses/manuscripts/journals; in addition, the theses/monographs/manuscripts submitted for sanction of subsidy by 9 scholars were approved for aid, subject to certain revisions by the author. Three professional organisations of historians were approved for financial assistance. With the subsidy granted by the Council in previous years, ten scholars and two institutions were able, during this year, to get their works/journals/proceedings published.

The sanction of research projects and fellowships for fostering objective and scientific writing of history is among the primary aims of the Council. The upward trend in performance has been consistent during the years. The decline in the number of research proposals sanctioned during 1973-74 was due to a cut in the grants-in-aid from the Government as a result of an overall drive for economy. This may be seen from the following table:

Year	Research Projects	Fellow- ships	Study/Travel contingent grant	Total
1972-73	19	9	—	28
1973-74	10	13	—	23
1974-75	12	14	3	29
1975-76	22	14	12	48

The 48 research proposals sanctioned by the Council during the year reveal two noteworthy features. One is the increasing involvement of scholars working in small towns in historical research and the other an informed appreciation of the wider meaning of history. Thanks to the proliferation of seats of learning in recent years, many teachers happen to work in mofussil areas where adequate facilities for collection of research material are not available. The Council's endeavour in generating research efforts in small towns by providing assistance to deserving scholars under its grants-in-aid schemes has yielded tangible results during the year. It is for scholars in small towns that the study grants of the Council are primarily meant. The Council looks forward to rendering such assistance to more such scholars who do not have the advantage of working in metropolitan cities with library facilities. It may be added here that among those engaged in research with the Council's aid during the year included two scholars from Sri Lanka.

A broad classification of the research subjects chosen by the Project Directors and Fellows of I.C.H.R. shows the direction in which historical research has been changing in style, content, context and perspective. Political history has yielded place to researches on the lives and activities of the people, particularly in the context of their social and economic conditions. Many of the research proposals that are classified under political history for want of a better expedient, deal with the peoples' movements for freedom which, strictly speaking, was something more than political. The 48 research proposals sanctioned by the Council during the year have been categorised as follows:

Prehistory	1
Political history	10
Administrative history	2
Social history	12
Economic history	6
Art history	2
Historical geography	2
Epigraphy	1
Compilation/editing/translation of sources	12

Total	48

II. COMPILATION OF SOURCE MATERIALS

Though good progress has been achieved in the compilation of sources in general, in terms of periods covered it has been rather uneven. This work, which was undertaken soon after the inception of the Council, was assigned after the types of sources were identified and the experts to whom this could be entrusted were located. The richness and variety of the sources in a country of India's size and long background are such that they require time for compilation. Reallotment of volumes was not found to be feasible in view of the professional expertise of the scholars to whom the work was entrusted. The need and justification for rescheduling of the programme in terms of time-limit were thus inexorably implicit in the exigencies of the situation. However, towards the end of 1975-76 the Council found that the total number of source volumes received till then was 42. Details of the volumes received during the year are given below:

A. Ancient Indian History

- (i) Professor T. V. Mahalingam, Pallava inscriptions

B. Medieval Indian History

- (i) Professor S. Hasan Askari, Sirat-i-Firuz Shahi (English translation)
- (ii) Dr V. S. Bhargava, Records of the Thikanas Masuda and Bhinai (2 volumes)
- (iii) Dr Narain Singh Bhati, A comprehensive catalogue of the historical works of Rajasthan
(The 2 volumes submitted relate to the Jodhpur division; work in respect of other divisions was going on)

C. Modern Indian History

- (i) Dr M. P. Sreekumaran Nair, Nationalist Movement: 1922-24
- (ii) Professor A. R. Desai, Labour Movement: 1923-27 (3 volumes); Labour Movement (1941-47) (2 volumes)
(These are in addition to the 5 volumes submitted earlier)
- (iii) Dr B. B. Chaudhuri, Agrarian Movement in Eastern India (1 volume; this is in addition to the 2 volumes submitted earlier)

During the year about 100 other source volumes were under different stages of preparation.

III. SURVEYS OF HISTORICAL WRITINGS

The work of preparing 27 survey reports was undertaken in 1972-73 for identifying the trends in historical research, pointing out the gaps that require attention and suggesting relevant questions and hypotheses for investigation. At the end of 1974-75 the Council was in receipt of 6 reports prepared by different scholars. During the year one more report mentioned below was received:

Professor J. N. Sarkar, History of Warfare (medieval portion).

IV. A DICTIONARY OF INDIAN ARCHAEOLOGY

With a view to providing accurate and authentic information about the excavated sites and material found in them, this project was undertaken towards the end of the year. The dictionary is proposed to be prepared in two parts, one dealing with places and the other with subjects. While the places to be covered would include all excavated and explored sites having relevance to pre-proto-and-early historic culture, the subjects would be wide-ranging to include such items as pottery, artifacts, weapons, cereals, animal remains, structures etc. The project is being carried out under the direction of Shri A. Ghosh. A list of about 30 major topics—most of which are split into many sub-topics has been prepared for inclusion in the dictionary. The task of writing on them has been assigned to specialists in the field. The work involved several regional collaborators.

V. SPECIAL PROJECTS

(A) Translation Programme

This programme of the Council, undertaken in 1972-73, had made steady progress. As the reports of previous years have shown, core books on Indian history and culture written during the last twenty five years have been taken up for translation into Indian languages. The progress under this programme has been consistently higher with every successive year. During 1973-74 as many as 40 manuscripts in ten languages were received, while during 1974-75 the number of manuscripts rose to 66. During the year under report 80 manuscripts were received. A total number of 186 manuscripts have so far been received. Details in respect of each language may be seen from the following table:

Language	No. of titles allotted	No. of manuscripts received during successive years
		1973-74	1974-75	1975-76

This was undertaken to provide a balanced view of Indian history and culture through extracts selected from a variety of original sources. This will be in three volumes. The first volume covering the ancient period is ready. The third volume covering the modern period is being revised. Progress in respect of the second volume has been rather slow.

(C) Projects relating to 'Studies on Central Asian Civilizations'

As has been stated in the report for the previous year, the UNESCO has initiated a plan to promote better understanding of the civilization of the people of Central Asia through studies on their archaeology, history, science and literature. At the instance of the Indian National Commission for Co-operation with UNESCO the Council has taken up a few research projects relating to Central Asia. It has already been reported that two of the projects, Preparation of an Annotated Bibliography on Kushana Archaeology by Dr B. N. Puri and A Descriptive Catalogue of Manuscripts and Documents relating to Central Asia in Indian Archives by the Asiatic Society, Calcutta were completed during 1974-75. During 1975-76 the first manuscript was sent to the press. Work in respect of the following projects was going on:

- (i) Preparation of a book on the History and Archaeology of the Kushanas
- (ii) A Catalogue of Gandhara Sculpture in India (This was being done by the Archaeological Survey of India with the assistance of ICHR.)

(D) Project on 'Towards Freedom'

This project, which is being executed in collaboration with the National Archives since 1973, aims to compile a series of ten volumes of source material relating to the freedom movement during 1937-47. The Editorial Board for this project met once during the year and provided guidelines of work for the first two volumes. Some Compilers and Assistant Compilers were recruited for collection of material available in different regions in India. The material relating to the period 1937-39 was collected. Extracts were made from newspapers, such as, Abhyudaya; The Hindu and The Bombay Chronicle; Organizational papers like All India State Peoples' Movement relating to Bhopal and All India Congress Committee papers; and private papers of Mahatma Gandhi, Kher, Satyamurti, Sri Prakasa and Nawab of Chhattari.

(E) Project on 'The Role of State Legislatures in Freedom Struggle'

The second volume relating to Assam and written by Professor A. Guha was sent to the press. Manuscripts of volumes relating to Bengal and Madras were under revision. The manuscript on Punjab and the revised manuscript on Orissa were under examination of the Editorial Board. Work on U.P., C.P., Bihar, Bombay and Sind was in varying stages of progress.

(F) Project on 'Praja Mandal'

This project, which aims to prepare a comprehensive book on the Praja Mandal movement in the Princely States of India in pre-independence years, was undertaken during the year under report. Material from private papers and official records was collected.

(G) History of the Second World War

The Council is planning research projects in collaboration with the International Committee for the History of the Second World War to study the impact of the Second World War on Indian society and economy, politics and international relations. A fellowship was granted in the previous year to study the impact of the Second World War on coal, iron, steel and jute industries in eastern India. The study project continued during the year.

VI. SEMINARS AND SYMPOSIA

A symposium on 'Interaction between intellectual, social and political movements in Russia and India in the late 19th and early 20th centuries' was organized by the Council under the Indo-Soviet Cultural Exchange Programme for 1974-75. It was held in the premises of the Council from 21 to 26 January 1976. Six Russian and 14 Indian historians presented papers on topics relating to the theme of the symposium. The proceedings of the seminar will be published later.

Besides, the Council had, during the year, sponsored a seminar at Pune and extended aid to three organisations, the details of which are given at Appendix VI. The Pune seminar discussed problems of social and economic history of India, with special reference to Deccan and Gujarat. The objective of the seminar was to make young scholars aware of some of the problems of social and economic history of India and to direct their attention to specific problems of both content and methodology. About 40 scholars from Andhra Pradesh, Gujarat, Karnataka and Maharashtra participated in the seminar; 32 of them presented papers. Thirteen eminent scholars gave special lectures.

The XIV International Congress of the Historical Sciences met at Sanfransisco in August, 1975. The ICHR was represented at the Congress by Professor R. S. Sharma, Chairman, ICHR. Among the leading historians who attended the Congress on behalf of the Government of India were Professor Satish Chandra, Chairman, University Grants Commission and Fr.
